Instructor

Detective Federer holds a bachelor’s degree in psychology from Capital University where he graduated Magna Cum Laude. He obtained his master’s degree in forensic physiology from Tiffin University, having graduated Summa Cum Laude. Adam began his law enforcement career in 1997 as a Deputy with the Franklin County Sheriff’s Office. There is served as a corrections officer and a Field Training Deputy. In 1999 he joined the Columbus Division of Police. He currently works in the Homicide Bureau's Felony Assault Unit, where he investigates various violent crimes against persons and provides training to new detectives assigned to the bureau. Detective Federer is also a skilled Hostage Negotiator, having served in this role for over eleven years. He actively participates as a core member of the Crisis Intervention Team and the Peer Assistance Team, while also serving as a senior instructor in the Detective Bureau School for the Columbus Division of Police. Throughout his career, he has received extensive training and completed twelve programs specializing in Interview and Interrogation.

Detective Federer is an active member of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #9, where he served as lead grievance representative for over five years. He shares his knowledge by teaching classes to local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies, while also instructing new recruit officers at the police academy. Over the years, Detective Federer has been honored with numerous medals and awards for his outstanding performance and has contributed to various committees such as the Redistricting Committee, Awards Committee, Detective Bureau School Basic & Advanced Committee, and Field Training Detective Committee.

Detective Federer's inspiring communication style and instructional methods serve as a motivating reminder of the excitement within this field of work. His unwavering dedication and proven techniques for achieving goals are unmatched. Outside of law enforcement, Detective Federer cherishes spending quality time with his wife, Amalia, and being out negotiated by his three young daughters: Gia, Gemma, and Gianna. They share a love for the outdoors and are blessed by God to frequently enjoy the beauty of the Caribbean as a family.
